SUZANNA LUBRANO

Introduction

For years, Suzanna Lubrano has been one of the most popular female artists in Lusophone Africa. In a career spanning 25 years, she has scored massive hits in countries such as Angola, Mozambique and Cape Verde, and has also managed to achieve frequent success elsewhere. She has received numerous music awards and nominations.

At the start of the 21st century, Suzanna was one of the creators of Zouk Love, a slower-paced and more sensual type of Zouk. Her 'Tudo Pa Bo' album (2002) was a major influence for many artists in Lusophone Africa and beyond. The influence of Suzanna's original Zouk Love music can still be heard in many of today's pop songs.

After a long sabbatical, Suzanna is now back with brand new songs. After the release of two new classic Zouk Love songs, 'Tudo Pa Mi' and 'Casal Perfeito', the AfroBeat 'Africa Arise' was released in February 2022. New songs will follow soon.

Starring: Jack Black, Jason Segel, Emily Blunt
Director: Rob Letterman

Based on the 18th century novel of the same name, this update sees a slacker mailroom clerk being transported to the land of Lilliput (yes, this is the original name of the mythical land in the novel) after messing up a travel assignment to the Bermuda Triangle. There, the giant (or Beast, as he is affectionately known to the locals), he becomes a hero to the little people, fighting villains and matchmaking a peasant and a princess. When a battle with a petty general goes awry, the roly poly backs out and covers in fear.

Of course, you know this is only temporary - who would be in the mood for an un-happy ending during the festive season?

Suzanna Lubrano – Live at Off-Corso

▶ CULTURA 24, ZATERDAG T/M WOENSDAG

NA de dvd en televisie-uitzendingen in onder meer Suriname, Portugal, Angola en Brazilië zendt nu ook de publieke omroep een door RTV Rijnmond gemaakte opname uit van het concert van de Rotterdams zangeres van Kaapverdische afkomst Suzanna Lubrano (1975). Dat concert vond plaats in 2009 in Rotterdam en Candy Dulfer verzorgde er een gastoptreden. Maar omdat al die beschrijvingen toch nooit de lading goed dekken, noemen wij het hier gewoon prachtig. En daar staan we niet alleen in. In 2003 ontving de Rotterdamse een Kora, een onderscheiding voor de beste Afrikaanse muzikante, en van de president van de Kaapverdische Eilanden kreeg ze niet alleen een diplomatiek paspoort, maar in 2009 ook een hoge onderscheiding voor bijzondere prestaties. Wereldwijd klinkt haar stem. In Mozambique bijvoorbeeld, niet alleen op de radio, maar ook vaak als ringtone. Haar albums hebben oorstrelende titels als Tudo pa bo, Fofó en Sem bônes mundo al blijft daar in de Nederlands vertaling niet zoveel meer van over. Dan wordt het Alles voor jou, Schatje en Zonder jou in de wereld. Op dit moment legt ze de laatste hand aan haar zesde soloalbum; dat wordt in het voorjaar verwacht.

Previous recipients of the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award and the African Legendary Award include Nelson Mandela, Kofi Annan, and Miriam Makeba.

"Kora was established to recognise the growing African musical talent, to promote up-and-coming artists, and to unite the African Diaspora through music and art," says Kora Chairman and executive producer Ernest Adjovi.

She will be joined by American rap sensation, Ludacris and the sensational Suzanna from Cape Verde in paying tribute to a number of prominent African musicians.

Suspected organ trafficker held

A THIRD man was arrested on suspicion of involvement in an alleged international human organ trafficking network, police said yesterday.

The 58-year-old South African was allegedly an important member of the Human Tissue Act. Robel was arrested on Tuesday morning on his discharge from Durban's St Augustine's hospital, where he underwent a kidney transplant last Thursday, Martins Engelbrecht said.

World Music Wednesday

Suzanna Lubrano
Cape Verde Awakens
Wednesday, June 09, 2010

Most fans of world music know the music of Cape Verde only through the odd compilation album or the ubiquitous sounds of Cesaria Evora. Those compilations, however, tend toward on style – the somber, hauntingly beautiful strains of accordion and Portugese-flecked guitar mixed with West African rhythms. It is gorgeous background music – memorable mind you – but still best when relegated to a dinner party mix or meditative workout.

Suzanna Lubrano's approach, however, is very much upfront. Her Cape Verdean zouk is clearly and exuberantly intended for dancing, not dining. And her star is rising with a recent win last week of "Best African Artist of the Disapora" in the prestigious online poll, Museke Online Africa", not an easy feat when fellow voters from the tiny island of Cape Verde have only so many votes to give.

Collaborations like those with Candy Dulfer, former Prince protégé and popular smooth jazz artist, have gained her attention and some key appearances on the European music television circuit. And though she's singing in Portugese, the influences here feel less Afro-Brazil than they are reminiscent of Miami-style Latin pop, a dynamic that's getting Suzanna play from DJ's at concerts and festivals on this side of the pond. This is not crossover music, at least not her part. To fully enjoy Suzanna's gifts, you're gonna have to be the one to crossover to her. We think you should.

The headline was Zouk artist Suzanna Lubrano. She's been around for years. Sunday was her first time in New York. Awesome. She performed old and new tracks and even invited Brazilian Zouk dancers to perform along with her. VIBE - United States

Her band was great, and everything came together when they performed Tudo Pa Bo (You're too good to be true), a song with the allure of Youssou N'Dours duet with Neneh Cherry. OOR - Netherlands

After five lingering years, singer Suzanna Lubrano finally returned to the United States and there was clear indication that she had been deeply missed. Following her staggering performance during the Mega concert in Washington DC on April 22nd, Suzanna reconnected with her New England groupies at Club Lido this past Friday. Without accompaniment, it's tough to tell what kind of music Lubrano is singing. Later that night, before a crowd of 15,000 people, it became clear: Zouk! It's Lubrano's music that's hitting the charts. BBC World Service - United Kingdom

The heads of state agreed to appoint the seven-nation panel, headed by President Olusegun Obasanjo of Nigeria, to monitor developments in Zimbabwe and to report back at any time, the source said.

A Commonwealth spokesperson said he could not confirm the agreement and said the heads of state were still in a closed-door meeting.

But Zanu-PF said it had already decided to leave the Commonwealth. A final decision would be taken by a cabinet vote.

"The Commonwealth is being abused by the former colonial power and the other white members of the Commonwealth to settle political scores," said Didymus Mutasa, Zanu-PF's external affairs secretary. "These same members are bullying the weaker members of the Commonwealth to endorse their decisions and we don't think we want to be part of them any more.

The racially charged row has split the Commonwealth' as nothing else has since apartheid in South Africa in the early 1990s. Zimbabwe has dominated the summit to the frustration of many delegates eager to discuss topics such as fair trade, Aids and terrorism.

The six-person task force that had earlier been appointed to resolve the dispute had only prolonged the row. The group was split roughly between Mugabe's friends and foes.

An early British report on the task force indicated that South Africa had refused to accept the continued exclusion.

JOHANNESBURG — A return to her homeland, the tiny West African state of Cape Verde, was the inspiration that took Suzanna Lubrano to the title of Best African Female Artist 2003 at the Kora All Africa Music Awards at the weekend.

Although Lubrano was born in Cape Verde, she migrated to the Holland with her family when she was four and was away from the country of her birth for more than two decades.

"But when I started singing 10 years ago, I travelled back to my homeland. So, I am renewed ... I have started to grow again in the community.

I have found my roots again."

Lubrano has established herself quickly as the most celebrated Cape Verdean female singer and is enormously popular throughout the Afro-Portuguese world.

She sings primarily in Cape Verdean Creole — with a sprinkling of English to "reach as many people as possible with the message of love".

But she believes people do not need to understand all her lyrics to appreciate her music. "My songs do touch people." She recently released a new album, entitled Tudo Pa Bo.

Machel Montano & Iyanya op Suzanna Lubrano album

Kavita | maandag 16 maart 2015 11:30 | 0 reacties

Suzanna Lubrano releast deze maand haar nieuwste album 'Vitoria'. Op het album van de Kaapverdiaanse zangeres uit Rotterdam staan grote internationale namen, zoals socaster Machel Montano en afropop-zanger Iyanya. Van de zeventien tracks, zijn er drie geproduceerd door Giorgo Tuinfort, waaronder 'Stay' met Machel Montano.

Heftige openingstrack

Suzanna heeft een heftige periode achter de rug, waarin huiselijk geweld een grote rol speelde. Ook werd ze beschuldigd van het ontvoeren van haar eigen kinderen. De zangeres begint haar album daarom met de track 'Mudjer Forti'. Een heftig nummer dat geïnspireerd is op haar ervaringen.
